It is in order now to probe the smallpox.

McCracken county is to have a new and up-to-date court house, remodelled from the present structure.

Representative Oliver has smallpox, but the report failed to state whether he has it in spots or Oliver.

The Pineville Council has passed an ordinance putting the lid on the tango and similar dances in Pineville.

The nomination of Col. George W. Goethals to be Governor of the Panama canal zone was confirmed Thursday by the Senate.

Jas. P. Whallen, brother of John H. Whallen, has offered to erect a $10,000 statue of the latter, in Shawnee Park, Louisville.

Prof. R. T. Drake, of Warren county, and Miss Carrie Spencer, of Butler county, were secretly married at Gallatin Jan. 27 and managed to keep the secret a whole week.

The bill to again submit to a vote the amendment to the constitution allowing convicts to work on the roads, was defeated by one vote in the House, but reconsidered and re-committed.

Mrs. Wm G. Brownlow, widow of Tennessee's war governor, "Parson Brownlow," died at her home in Knoxville Wednesday, aged 95 years. She was a daughter of Jas. O'Brien, an early pioneer.

By a majority of one vote—32 to 31—Frank P. Glass, of Alabama, lost his fight for a seat in the United States Senate. He was appointed by the Governor to fill a vacancy, instead of being elected.

The expert swimmer, Miss Annette Kellerman, was badly hurt at Hamilton, Bermuda, when a glass water tank collapsed and the outpour carried her over the jagged edge, cutting her left side. A man swimmer was also seriously hurt.

Indications are that the failure of Secretary of State Crecelius to legalize the vote on the Public Roads amendment has effectually killed the measure. Opposition led by the Frankfort representative has so far prevented a resubmission of the question.

The U. S. Senate has just denied Editor Frank P. Glass, of Birmingham, a $7,500 seat in the Senate by one vote and Editor Henry M. Pindell, of Peoria, has declined a $17,500 job as ambassador. After all it is better for editors not to have too many side lines.

Mr. Cox, of Anderson, has introduced a bill requiring a license to catch fish in Kentucky. If the license would carry with it a guarantee that the fish would bite, Mr. Cox's measure is not such a freak bill after all. It is fishing without getting bites that makes the sport unprofitable.

The Ohio State Congress of Mothers proposed a resolution that each club should insist upon one baby in its membership every year. This is not one to each member, mind you, but one to each club, no matter how large the membership may be. Committees of one will have to be appointed. What is everybody's business is nobody's business.

Jim Stone, who resigned as clerk of the House the other day, to take a better job, was what you might call a born clerk. Col. Stone entered the legislative service in the House at the session of 1876, as a copyist, and since that time has, with the exception of three sessions, 1880, 1882 and 1884, when he was prevented by illness, served continuously at every session in one branch or the other of the General Assembly. Besides this, he was reading clerk in the Constitutional Convention of 1890. For the last thirty years he has been the secretary of every Democratic State Convention held in Kentucky but three. In addition, he has also been one of the reading clerks at four National Democratic Conventions.

PREPARES TO MEET REBELS

Circular Declares More Active Campaign Against Constitutionalists Has Begun.

TO PROTECT FOREIGNERS.

Minister of Interior Says Raising of Embargo on Arms Aids Federals.

Mexico City, Feb. 6.—A circular of instructions was issued to-day by Provisional President Huerta to the chiefs of all army divisions and Governors of States. He recites that the Government has begun a more active campaign against the rebels and urges that diligence be observed in giving all possible protection to non-combatants, foreign as well as native, removing them when necessary from the zones of operation.

Dr. Ignacio Alcocer, acting Minister of the Interior, in commenting to-day on the raising of the embargo on arms by the United States, said it was proof of the sincerity of President Wilson, since for a long time nobody had been ignorant of the fact that there had been undisguised tolerance in the matter of introducing arms and ammunition across the border. He said it would not aid the revolutionists, but that, on the other hand the Mexican Government would profit by it "since it presents a happy opportunity to make known the power which it really possesses."

REVOLUTION ON IN PERU

Military Rebels Storm Palace At Lima And Government Overthrown.

Lima, Peru, Feb. 6.—The President of the Republic of Peru, Guillermo Billinghurst, was taken prisoner Thursday by military revolutionists. The rebels suddenly attacked the Presidential palace this morning under the leadership of Col. Benavides.

Gen. Enrique Varela, Premier and Minister of War, was killed in the sharp fight which ensued. Dr. Augusto Durand, a former revolutionary leader, whose arrest was sought by the police yesterday, took possession of the palace.

SAVED BY HAIR

But Died From Exposure On a Life Boat.

The hero of the wreck of the Old Dominion steamship Monroe was Thos. R. Harrington, a young man of Bridgeport, Conn. For two hours he swam in the almost icy ocean off the Delaware coast dragging along his unconscious wife by holding her hair in his teeth. Her arm was broken from the collision of the Monroe and the Nantucket, and she cried out to him that rather than undergo the pain of his holding her arm she would die. Mrs. Harrington died in a life boat soon after they were picked up.

Failed to Reduce.

J. M. Johnston's bill, looking to the reduction of Circuit Judges' compensation for holding court outside their districts from $1,200 to $500 was reported adversely by the majority of the committee to which it was referred, and the measure was concurred in by the House. M. Saufley moved to amend the measure its first reading and brought the matter out on the floor of the House, but he was voted down.

DUFFY BOOK BILL PASSED

Providing For Uniformity Of Text Books In All Counties.

ANOTHER CASE SMALLPOX.

Senate Takes a Recess Until Monday Over Scare.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—The Duffy Bill, looking to the uniformity in school books in the State and the creation of a School Book Commission, was passed by the House, as amended, 71 to 7. The author of the bill claimed he was visited in Hopkinsville by the "chief lobbyist of the American Book Company," while Representative Meyers claimed that an effort was made Wednesday night to influence his action on the measure.

Because of the smallpox scare in Frankfort the Senate was adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The House, reassured by a statement from Dr. J. N. McCormack to the effect that in his opinion the situation was well in hand, decided to hold a session to-day. Representative Walter N. Flipin has developed the disease at his home in Somerset.

ANTI-MOB LAW BILL

Peace Officers Who Fail To Protect Their Prisoners Are Liable To Lose Positions.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—If the bill introduced in the Legislature by Senator W. B. Moody, of Henry county, becomes a law, its author and supporters claim that it will have a salutary effect in preventing lynchings and mob violence in Kentucky. The chief provision of the measure is for the suspension of any peace officer who allows a prisoner to be taken from his custody and forfeiture of office in the event it is known that the officer failed to use the diligence and all the force at his command in protecting the prisoner from the mob.

Commission Government.

The House Committee on Municipalities held a meeting Feb. 4, to hear representatives of the third-class cities on the bill to provide commission form of government for cities of that size. The cities in Kentucky which belong in this class are Owensboro, Middlesboro, Frankfort, Henderson and Bowling Green. A bill is pending in the House to make Hopkinsville a third-class city, and it is believed that it will pass. The bill as prepared is not satisfactory to all representatives, the chief difference arising on the question of salary to the commissioners. Dr. McCormack believed that the highest-class men could be secured to serve for nothing. Other representatives believed that $2,000 would be fair, while it was pointed out that a sliding scale might be unconstitutional.—Louisville Post.

Local Winners

Elfall, a nine to one shot, won in the races at Charleston, S. C., yesterday. Peter Postell, col., of this city, won $6,000 to $7,000. F. G. Petre is also reported a big winner.

KAPPA ALPHA FRATERNITY

Local Chapter is Formed With Good List Of Members.

VISITORS WERE PRESENT.

Henry J. Stites is President And Herschel A. Long Secretary.

On Wednesday night in the ordinary of the Hotel Latham, the Hopkinsville alumni chapter of the Kappa Alpha college fraternity was formed.

Messrs. M. S. Ross, province commander of the order, and President of the Nashville Board of Trade, and Verner Jones, general secretary of the order and editor of the Kappa Alpha Journal, both of Nashville, were the guests of honor at a banquet before the institution of the chapter. These officers presided at the installation of the new alumni chapter, which is the second one organized in the state.

Messrs. Noe, of the Hotel Latham, served a delightful repast, after which oratory and the bringing back memories of college days was the order of the day.

The following officers were elected for the chapter:

President, Henry J. Stites; Vice-President, James Breathitt, Jr.; See and Treas., Herschel A. Long. Among the Kappa Alphas, who live in the city or vicinity or who have formerly made this their home are:

Henry J. Stites, James Breathitt, Jr., Rev. C. H. H. Branch, Dr. Gant Gaither, Herschel A. Long, Robert Henry, Irving Roseborough, Denny P. Smith, Cadiz; Norton Garth, Trenton; J. T. E. Stites, Hugh Wood, Charlie McPherson, Herndon Waller, Holt McKinney, Cadiz; Clifton Long, McDowell Trabue, Pembroke; Thorne Harris, Pembroke; Wallace Kelly.

MAKES POOLS ILLEGAL

Former New York Mayor Seth Low Discusses Proposed Anti-Trust Measures.

Washington, Feb. 6.—In discussing the "definition of monopoly" bill in the anti-trust program before the House Judiciary Committee, Seth Low, former Mayor of New York, declared that Kentucky tobacco pools were made illegal under the measure.

Representative R. Y. Thomas, Jr., of Kentucky, a member of the committee, was inclined to agree with Mr. Low. It is expected that Representative J. C. Cantrill will at once take up the matter with the Kentucky delegation with a view to changing the phraseology of the bill. Mr. Low had said that farmers' organization, although intrastate, whose products are later distributed among the states, are made illegal under the monopoly definition bill.

Mrs. James H. Ware has gone to Lutz, Fla., on a visit to Mrs. C. A. Freeburgh.

Both Bills Will Pass Soon.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—The bill to enable Third class cities to adopt commission form of government will be reported favorably Monday. The bill transferring Hopkinsville to third class has already been favorably reported. No serious opposition. Expected that both bills will pass soon.

FOUR BOYS ARE HELD

One of Them Confesses To The Charge of Burglary And Others Implicated.

TWO MORE ARE WANTED.

Are Believed To Have Been Implicated In Several Recent Crimes.

Lucian H. Davis' residence entered at second story by means of a ladder and $8 or $10 taken.

Thieves effected an entrance through a back window of Keach's furniture store, $3 taken from register.

Samuel B. Ficken's home entered, only a dollar belonging to one of his boys was stolen.

Pollard's saloon was entered through a window and a lot of cigars taken.

Stag saloon broken into at back door, $14 or $15 in money and other articles taken.

The store of the F. A. Yost Co. entered by the burglars forcing open the outer sheetiron door with an iron bar and breaking the glass out of the inner door. The outer door was fastened by large hook dropping into a staple.

Last summer time and time again Union Tabernacle became a rendezvous for a lot of negro criminals and boys of the rough sort. As fast as forced doors and broken windows could be replaced others were forced or broken. The watchfulness of the police and people of the neighborhood who were on a lookout were unavailing for months, but eventually the police got a clue and finally half a dozen half grown white boys were taken in the net. When arraigned for trial nothing could be proven against the boys and a more innocent lot of youngsters, according to their own stories, were never before a judge.

The police did not have any confidence in the boys' promises to be good and have been keeping an eye on them and on a lot of negroes ever since.

The negroes are still at large but, we are sorry to say, many boys, sons of respectable parents, have been taken in the police net. The police, while not putting on the third degree, did a fine piece of work.

The first of the six who confessed, gave away the others by telling the particulars to Vitus L. Gates, one of proprietors of the Stag saloon, which was forcibly entered on Sunday night, January 31st, and about $14.95 in money, besides cigarettes, chewing gum, etc., taken. Mr. Gates then communicated the matter to Officer Jones. It was evident, from what the thieves got from the Stag, that the burglars were boys. Chief Roper and his men got busy and soon had half a dozen boys before Judge Knight for trial, while two others are being sought elsewhere, as they feared arrest and left the city. Their names are Dick Hankins and Hankins Keach.

After hearing the evidence, which was really a confession of four of the boys, Judge Knight fixed the bond of Witty and Mabry at $500 each and Baker and Hurt at $250 each. They were sent to jail pending their bonds being made by their parents.

The trial of these boys, Aubrey Mabry, aged 14; Ernest Witty, 14; Rodman Hurt, 16, and Pettus Baker, 16, led to the detection of at least one of the party that broke into the store of the F. A. Yost Co. The men in the store and the police believe that those who robbed the Stag saloon and the F. A. Yost Co. were different parties and yet they were inclined to believe that there were some of the boys in the crowd from some of the articles taken. Besides about $30 in money, half a dozen

EX-CONVICT FATALLY SHOT

Negro Struck Low Johnson, Jr., and Attacked Deputy Herbert Johnson.

14-INCH CORN KNIFE IN HAND.

Was Plainly a Case of Self Defense, Two Shots Were Fired.

John Fox, a negro ex-convict, died at his home, near town yesterday morning at 8:20. His death was due to a pistol shot in one shoulder, fired by Deputy Sheriff Herbert Johnson.

Thursday night, about 8 o'clock Mr. Johnson went to San Domingo, a negro suburb southeast of the city, to serve a capias on a man supposed to be somewhere about. He asked a negro he met where the man could be found and was told he was down at the home of John Fox.

The deputy took Low Johnson, Jr., in the buggy with him to hold the horse and went into Fox's house to serve the paper on his man should he be there. Deputy Johnson also had a capias for Fox and told him he was going to arrest him. It is said Fox was somewhat under the influence of whisky and as soon as the officer entered the door he became terribly enraged and commenced cursing Mr. Johnson, calling him unspeakable names, and said "no d---d white man can arrest me."

Young Johnson, about 17 years of age, hearing the loud swearing, got out of the buggy and went to the door to see what was going on. Fox struck one blow with his fist, knocking him out of the door. Herbert Johnson was by this time shut off from the door as Fox reached up and took a fourteen-inch corn knife from over the door and made at Johnson with it, telling him he was going to "cut his d---d head off." The officer then drew his revolver and fired two shots at the negro, one of them taking effect in the left shoulder. Fox fell to the floor.

After the shooting Mr. Johnson reported the affair and Sheriff Jewell Smith found Dr. Gaither and accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Will Hammack, soon arrived at Fox's home. Dr. Gaither dressed the negro's wound. The negro died yesterday morning.

Fox was one of the worst negroes in the county. He had been sent to the penitentiary three times, and had the reputation of being a great chicken thief and the Chief of Police says that he could hardly tell how many times he had resisted arrest. He was one of the worst characters generally that has been before the city court in recent years.

electric flash lights were appropriated. These two items led them to believe that there were grown men in the crowd. A few other articles of but little value were also taken.

Chief Roper, who had been in telephone communication with many places not far off, Thursday played a sort of third degree game which ended in the Mabry boy's confessing that he was the one who forced the two back doors and stole the money. At first Mabry denied knowing anything about the Yost burglary but Chief Roper made him believe that he knew all about the robbery. Then the youth broke down and confessed that he was the one who broke open the doors and entered the store, but said he would stay in jail the balance of his life before he would tell on the others.

We were told yesterday morning that all the money stolen from the F. A. Yost Co. excepting something over a dollar had been recovered. Chief of Police Roper has his wires still at work and further developments are expected in a few days.

OLD AUNT BEULAH

Brave Retreat Before Disaster
That Had Ruined an Old
Happy Home.

By GEORGE H. BOWEN.

Aunt Beulah thrust her head into the room and her round black face wrinkled with anxiety."Miss Nancy honey—dey ain't a mite o' meal left in de hnt!" she announced uncertainly.Nancy lifted her tired eyes from the music she was languidly copying. Her gown was no whiter than her pale cheeks. If there had been even a flicker of color in the cheeks Nancy Blair would have been beautiful. She was delicately fair with the fragility
of convalescence after a long illness.
"The meal?" she repeated vaguely.
"Aunt Beulah, can't we have eggs or something else for supper?"
"Shore, honey, shore!" assured Aunt Beulah, dodging back into the dim obscurity of her little kitchen.
She lighted a kerosene lamp with trembling fingers and carried it into the bleak pantry, holding it high above her head and closely scanned
the shelves.There was a brave array of Grandmother Blair's white and gold china
saved from the wreck of the old home,
there were Aunt Beulah's cooking utensils and the everyday china dishes. There was nothing else, for poverty was pressing close upon Nancy Blair's faltering feet.The tiny rooms under the mansard roof of the city house was the best refuge of these two. Nancy and the old servant, who had heaten a brave retreat before the disaster that had ruined the old happy home."I can take care of you, Beulah," Nancy had said confidently, when they had moved. But typhoid fever had laid her low, and now in the last days of a long convalescence she was beginning to question herself how it was that Aunt Beulah had found money for the doctor and the medicine, as well as for the food and rent;
her own little store must have been swept aside long ago. She remembered on that last day, when she had fallen sick, she had pressed her purse
into Beulah's faithful hands. "I hope it will last until I can earn more,"
she had gasped."Meal—out of meal!" What did Beulah mean? When she had finished copying this music for Miss Peterman, the music teacher down on the first floor, she would have 75 cents. Seventy-five cents would buy more than meal—but there were several hours of work still to be done
on it, and Nancy fell sound asleep
with her head on the unfinished sheet.
Aunt Beulah left the pantry and throwing a red shawl about her ample shoulders, went down the long flights of stairs to the street. She paused uncertainly for a moment and then went doggedly toward the little blue-painted grocery store where she had traded since Nancy had been sick."Well, Aunt, what can I do for you?" asked the sharp-eyed young grocer."I wanten know if yo' can't low me some scrubbin' ter do—an' low me ter tak' it out in victuals," said Aunt Beulah.A young man who had been studying the labels on shelves of tinned vegetables, turned swiftly, as the old ear.The grocer turned away carelessly.
"Come lu tomorrow, Aunt, nud I'll talk to you about it. I'm busy now."Aunt Beulah folded her red shawl closer over her bosom as if to still
the turbulent beating of her heart,
and padded heavily out of the shop.
The young man who had been inspecting the tinned vegetables followed her swiftly.At the touch of his hand on her arm, Aunt Beulah jumped."Oh, man good Lawdy, whuffore yo'
scare me dat away?" she demanded indignantly, and then bending closer she looked into his face. Her cheeks turned gray, and she trembled like a leaf. "A sperrit!" she muttered.
"Doan yo' tech me, Mister Ghost—I ain't a-don't no ha'm—deedy I ain't!"
"Shut up, Aunt Beulah!" snapped
the man sharply. "You know perfectly well that I'm not a ghost. What are you doing here in Baltimore looking for work?""Good lawdy, Massa Francis, dey
said you was killed daid!" gasped Aunt Beulah. "Jes' as we was lenhin' home dey says Massa Francis Day is done killed down dere whah dey's bulidin' de canal, and Miss Nancy bein' proud as Lucifer an' sick most oh de time, dey wasn't nobody ter
find out de truf.""And Nancy believes that I am dead?" demanded Francis Day incredulously.

"Shore's yore standin' yere!"

"Tell me all about it," said Francis sternly.Aunt Beulah sat down on the nearest doorstep and unfolded a tale of misfortune that wrung bitter exclaima-tions from the dark-eyed youth. When the woman had concluded Francis took her work-hardened hand between his own strong palms."And so you've been working out as a laundress, unknown to Nancy—
and you've been paying the doctor and the druggist and the grocer—""Yassah—yo' see I couldn't go out while Miss Nancy war sick and nobody wouldn't hev wanted me no-ways
wid de fever in de house—but dey
got to be paid, sez I, an' I tak's mah two han's an goes out. Miss Nancy tinks I been traipsin' around lookin'
later do sh' brought by' sech fool-line Schumann."teh carryin's on!" Aunt Beulah rocked back and forth chuckling mirth-
fully."You are a noble woman, Aunt Beulah Lee," Francis Day said with deep feeling, "and when I say that you are a noble woman, Aunt Beulah, I am only repeating what my mother would have said if she had been here and heard your story. Now, let me go to mine.""I'm sprang 'traid ter go, Massa Frank. Dat chile is delikit and ee sarprize would kill her daid.""I tak' it to her gently. First, take de egg and go to the store and get what you need. Then after Nancy has had her supper you tell her and then meet me and let me know when I can see her. It all is well—after that—why, same God, I'll take you both home
with me!""Oh, Massa Frank—back to de ole place?"
"Yes. My father is dead, you know, and I came home. I've been looking for Nancy. I heard she was in Baltimore, but I couldn't get a trace of her. I've been making a house-to-house inquiry—at least I've been to most of the shops, and asking for news of either one of you, and when you came into the grocery tonight
I was waiting for an opportunity to ask the busy shopkeeper if he had any customers who answered your description. Now, take this and I will wait for you here and help you tote your bundles."Aunt Beulah took the money and lumbered away in the direction of the little grocery, and presently she returned with a large basket filled with packages. She would not allow Francis to carry the basket."Whut would yore mah say ter see dat yo' don't know yo' place no hetter'n
dat, Massa Frank?" she reproved him, as they went toward the big house.She left Francis Day at the foot of the steps while she panted up to the little room under the roof. She hummed a camp meeting song as she moved around the kitchen, lighting lamp, stirring the fire to glowing heat and bringing the teakettle to a boil.Presently she entered Nancy's little room and placed a heavily laden tray on the table. Nancy was curled in a big chair fast asleep.A lamp was lighted and the scattered music sheets carefully removed.
When Nancy opened her eyes they fell upon the shining black face of her servant and the meal spread before her."Dear Aunt Beulah!" cried the girl, delightedly; "you are a witch or a good fairy I do believe—you said we were out of meal—and here you have placed before me a supper fit for a queen. Ummmm! How good that tea smells—and beefsteak! and honey! Aunt Beulah, have you eaten anything yourself?" she asked sharply.
"I see gwine ter eat now, honey," protested Aunt Beulah, weakly, for the smell of the viands had whetted her faded appetite. "Jes' as soon as I wait on yo'—""Bring a plate and a cup and saucer and sit right down there—yes, at the same table with me, Beulah Lee!"
ordered Nancy sternly. "I know mighty well that you didn't get this food with the money I gave you!
You're my friend, Beulah; sit down and eat—well, this once, anyway!"Aunt Beulah protestingly obeyed, sitting on the edge of her chair and drinking eagerly of the strong tea."Miss Nancy, honey," she mumbled, "yo's strong-willed and likely ter have yo' own way—and yo' don't know yo' place—jes' like Massa Frank lak
two peas!"Nancy grew very pale and dropped her knife and fork."Aunt Beulah," she quavered.
"What made you speak of Francis Day—?""I was t'inkin' erbout him," muttered Beulah doggedly. "I was t'inkin'
if it come out dis-er-way—dat Massa Frank wa'n't daid, nohow—and he come yere to see us and said his pah wuz daid an' wouldn't objec' no
moah to yo' and Massa Frank bein' mahled and—honey, doan yo' look at me lak dat!"Beulah sprang heavily around the table and supported Nancy in her stout arms. The girl's white face fell against the strong shoulder, and her long dark lashes curled on her cheek."Such dreams don't come true, Aunt Beulah!" she sobbed."Honey, it am come true!" said Aunt Beulah, gently.Half an hour later Aunt Beulah went downstairs and brought a very impatient young man up to the little rooms under the roof.Nancy, her cheeks aglow with happiness, swayed uncertainly in the doorway, as they came in. Francis Day caught her in his arms and held her closely. Presently they looked up and saw Aunt Beulah watching them,
tears rolling down her dusky cheeks."Glory hallelujah!" she triumphed
as she went to her kitchen. "Dey chillens neher will keep dey place!"

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed. As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ill it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." Lucky Recovery of Rings.

The wife of a British army officer in India placed a number of valuable rings on a stand in her bedroom in their bungalow. They were missed shortly after a great snake was seen gliding away to the nearby jungle. Servants went on a snake hunt, and after killing seven serpents were fortunate enough to get the one that had swallowed the rings.

SPEARS AND ARROWS AGAIN?

Scotch Journal Can See Nothing Else If Developments of Slaughtering Devices Continue.

Official secrecy still continues to be observed regarding the result of the experiments with Signor Ulivi's Frays in igniting explosives at a distance, but it is quite apparent that if this new force can accomplish what is claimed for it, warfare will be completely revolutionized. For several generations the explosive has been the essential factor in our fighting machinery, and all our energies have been directed to perfecting it and the instruments by which it is discharged. Now, however, if it is possible for a man operating a keyboard at a safe distance to blow up magazines and ammunition wagons the explosive and the weapons by which it is used must be left behind before an army can venture into the field. M. Bloch some years ago declared that war had been made impossible by the destructive nature of the weapons that had come into existence. He was wrong in his anticipations, as subsequent events demonstrated, but through the instrumentality of the Frays we may see all the murderous apparatus of modern warfare which M. Bloch thought was to effect his beneficent idea thrown on the scrap heap. But how are we to fight our battles then? We will have to go back to the spears and bows and arrows, likewise the strategy and tactics of Bannockburn and Agincourt.—Dundee Advertiser

SABLE NOW SCARCE

Petropavlovsk, Siberia, Is the Center of Industry.

Russian Government Has Forbidden Killing of More Animals Until 1916
—Women Can Save Money by Purchasing in U. S.

Henry C. Hibbard of Seattle, whose firm operates a trading steamer to the coast of Siberia and buys furs there and in Alaska, says that sables have been difficult to get this season owing to the fact that the Russian government has forbidden the killing of more animals until 1916.

"Our boat goes from Seattle to Unalakleet and thence to Petropavlovsk, and then up the coast to Anadir, around to Kolushin bay and thence back to Nome," said Mr. Hibbard. "She takes $100,000 worth of merchandise, and between $35,000 and $40,000 in Russian money for the purposes of trading and bartering for furs, whalebone and ivory. This year she made a specialty of sables, and if the boat had been more liberally supplied with money we could have got a great deal more, in spite of the scarcity of the supply."

"Petropavlovsk is the center of the sable industry in Siberia, traders and hunters bringing their skins there to sell or exchange. The London market is usually a great deal better for undressed skins than any in this country, and Leipzig is good also. The selling markets that are the best are Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg. Yet if women knew it who buy their furs over there they might be able to do a great deal better in this country."

"I know of a New York woman who purchased a sable coat in Paris that cost her $15,000, and presumably she had to pay 35 per cent. duty to get it into this country. Her sister, who lives in Seattle, wanted to get a similar coat and she asked me what I thought it would cost. I told her I could save her at least 50 per cent. She gave me the order, and there was made up for her in this country a coat that cost a little under $7,000 and which was a far better garment than the one her sister had paid $15,000 for in Paris."

"Of course, Americans are big buyers of furs. But the fur game is funny. We have brought furs from Seattle to New York and offered them to all the big dealers, who have absolutely refused to buy. Then we would ship them to the London sales, and in many cases American buyers would purchase our furs and bring them back here, though if they bought them dressed they had to pay duty on them."

"Silver foxes are rather scarce this year, especially choice skins. I sold two skins the other day for $1,000 apiece which the retail customer will probably pay $2,000 apiece for when they are made up."

"After our boat gets back from Nome she makes a trip to Herschel Island, at the mouth of the Mackenzie river. On her last trip she took a big cargo for the Stefansson party. She is the only craft that makes a regular annual trip up there, her main purpose being whaling. This time she is carrying a moving picture camera with 15,000 feet of film and is looking for bowhead whale, which is of considerable value because of the whalebone it yields. As against the $700 value of the sperm whale, the bowhead is worth $8,000, though its value has dwindled tremendously because women nowadays wear so little whalebone in their corsets. Formerly a bowhead was worth $20,000. Last year in four months we caught 11, a phenomenal number."

"The ice up there is closing in already. We had news a while back that all the boats were frozen in and would not get back this winter, but I think ours will return. She carries a crew of 45 men and was built for bucking ice."

"Business conditions in Seattle are excellent. Every thing is going ahead fine. The big gold strike at Shushana, Alaska, has drawn lots of people through Seattle of late."

"By the way, owing to the government restrictions against the killing of polar bears, those skins are getting scarcer. We had 150 come in not long ago, which I imagine is about half the world's supply of the skins this year. They have to come from the Siberian side."

"Sealskins are showing a marked decline. They are going out of style and muskrat is taking their place. I could get real sealskin a lot easier than muskrat."

Prejudice to Be Overcome.

Prejudice against certain articles of food is not uncommon in this part of the world. The history of the garden tomato is evidence of this. Grandmothers today can remember the time when the tomato was the "Indian love apple" and nothing more. Perhaps the day is coming when we shall eat with relish fruits and articles of food which we now disregard or perhaps regard with fear. Luther Burbank and the other great horticulturists made aristocrats out of plebeian plants. Burbank made the cactus bear as a fruit tree.

Use Collapsible Plow.

In the open yellow pine forests of Washington and Oregon a collapsible plow is being used in digging fire lines to stop surface fires. The plow can be dismantled and folded into a compact form, so that it can be packed on horseback, and weighs only 40 pounds. When in use, one man with a horse can do the work of 20 or more men working with shovels.

THREE OPERATIONS.

All of The Patients Are Now Doing Well.

Miss Elizabeth McGee, teacher in the school at Oak Grove, was taken suddenly ill Monday evening and was brought in an automobile to the Infirmary, where she was operated upon for appendicitis. While her condition is still serious, it is not considered critical. Miss McGee is one of the most efficient of the common school teachers.

Mrs. Dabney C. Cary was operated upon Monday evening at the Infirmary and her condition following the operation is satisfactory and is improving from day to day.

Mrs. P. A. Steel underwent a serious operation at the Infirmary Tuesday, which was successful, and she is now getting along nicely.

Local Brieflets.

Ninety per cent. of the people, according to The Rex census, are in favor of the "Great White Way"—the ten per cent. who do not favor it must be the ones who would have to do the paying.

"The Count of Monto Cristo" will be here next week.

James K. Hooser is tearing out the balcony in the front part of his store room and is making other improvements.

Next Tuesday morning is the day for the goods roads meeting at the H. B. M. A. rooms.

Slowly but surely the use of roller skates on the concrete walks in cities and towns is being knocked out by ordinance. Skating can be prevented here by property owners "posting" a notice in front of their doors. So, don't fuss at the little ones who often come so near tangling up their skates with your feet.

Bicycle riding on sidewalks is prohibited by ordinance under a fine and costs penalty.

Already the Owls are talking about holding an open meeting—of course it will be at night, as owls cannot see during the day.

Two Victims of Consumption.

W. A. Hardwick, a Hopkins county patient at the Western State Hospital, died Thursday of tuberculosis, aged 68 years. He was received at the institution about a month ago. The body was shipped to Madisonville.

William New, a patient from Graves county, also died the same day of the same disease, aged twenty-two. He had been here seven months. The remains were shipped to Mayfield.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.

VALUABLE PRIZE.

Mrs. W. B. Harlow Awarded Handsome Silver Service.

Mrs. W. B. Harlow has received the valuable prize awarded by the Spirrell Corset Company, of which she is representative here, and is being congratulated by her many friends on her success. The company, early last year, offered a case of silverware valued at $25, as a prize to the agent selling a certain amount of their goods during the first seven months of the year. Mrs. Harlow's sales during the period amounted to more than the sum specified and she was notified that she had won the prize. The ware consists of a set of knives and forks, half-dozen table-spoons, six teaspoons, butter knife and sugar spoon, all four X silver and guaranteed for years.

Purely Personal.

Miss Ada Duncan is at Thompsonville spending the week-end with friends.

Frank Rives has returned from a visit of two weeks in Southern Texas. He didn't cross into Mexico.

Mrs. J. W. Gish, of Memphis, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George E. Randle, South Virginia street.

Miss Frank Campbell left for Cincinnati yesterday.

Mrs. Cora Collins, of Oklahoma, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. H. Bush.

Miss Jennie Bush left this week for a visit to friends in Middlesboro.

Mrs. Ira L. Smith left Thursday for a visit to relatives at Montgomery, Uniontown and other points in Alabama. Before returning home she will go to New Orleans and remain until after Mardi Gras.

Mrs. Millard Bartley is here from Nashville for a visit to her parents.

Miss Katherine Carothers, after a visit of several weeks with friends in Lexington, returned home Thursday night.

Miss Lena Clark went to Florida Thursday for a visit of several weeks.

Mrs. John W. Price, Jr.

Mrs. John W. Price, Jr., who was drowned at Pass Christian, Miss., this week, was formerly Miss Louise Bruce, daughter of Helm Bruce, of Louisville. She was 25 years old and leaves, beside her husband, one child, a son 8 months old, who was with his grand-parents in Louisville.

Academy of Medicine.

The Hopkinsville Academy of Medicine will convene in regular session next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, sharp. A very important topic will be discussed. The essayist of the evening is Dr. D. B. Roach. D. H. Erkiletian, Sec'y.

Grider Confesses.

William Grider, night mail clerk at the Henderson post-office, pleaded guilty at Owensboro to a charge of abstracting money from a letter. He was held to the Federal grand jury.

SING SING FOR CONGRESSMAN

Big Fish Caught In Prosecutions For Corruption.

BOSS CASSIDY CONVICTED.

Ex-Congressman Littauer Sent to Jail for 6 Months--Fined $1,000 For Smuggling.

New York, Feb. 6.—Joseph Cassidy, former Democratic boss and former Congressman William Willett, were Thursday sentenced to a year and six months in Sing Sing and to pay $1,000 fine each. Louis T. Walter, a politician, was sentenced to three months and a $1,000 fine.

Willett was convicted of paying Cassidy a bribe for the Supreme Court nomination. Walter was the go-between.

Ex-Congressman Lucius N. Littauer and his brother William Littauer, were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to six months in jail for smuggling. The court suspended the jail sentence.

MR. HARRIS DEAD

Never Rallied From a Fatal Stroke of Paralysis.

Mr. J. W. Harris, who was stricken with paralysis a few days ago, died at two o'clock yesterday morning. His condition grew worse from the time he was found lying helpless in his back yard, until death ended his sufferings.

Mr. Harris was an assistant to the Sexton at Riverside Cemetery for three years, retiring on Jan. 5 of the present year. He leaves a widow and one son, Wallace Harris.

The funeral will be held at the Yancey Hotel this morning at ten o'clock. Services will be conducted by Rev. H. D. Smith. Mr. Harris was a member of Liberty Christian Church in Todd county. The interment will be in Riverside Cemetery.

To Make Passes Illegal.

The House Committee on Railroads reported favorable the bill of Representative John G. Miller, Jr., of Paducah, providing that it shall be unlawful for a common carrier to give free passes to any one. The same committee reported adversely the bill of E. D. Stone, limiting passenger fare to two cents a mile, and the House concurred in the report.

Would Save $100,000.

It is announced by Senator H. C. Overstreet, of Daviess, and Representative Glover S. Gary, of McLean county, who introduced a bill in each branch of the Legislature amending the present State primary law, that they had decided to further amend the law by proposing a change from the secret ballot system to the viva voce method of voting. Both announced they had been convinced that the open ballot would prove more satisfactory and fairer in every respect than the present so-called secret ballot. Besides, they claim that the State will save at least $100,000 annually by the change, which will do away with the costly paraphernalia and supplies required to conduct elections under the Australian system.

Barker Testifies.

Judge Henry S. Barker testified before the committee investigating conditions at Kentucky State University that had he known what he has since learned that he could not have been tempted to become president; that he had the "undying enmity of Dr. Patterson," and that he hoped to correct evils in the institution "forty years old."

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md. — "I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadful pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until I was without a cramp or pain and felt like another person, and it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the best of health." — Mrs. AUGUST W. KONDNER, 1682 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Bob Walker.

President Wilson has sent to the senate the nomination of Robert C. Walker for the postmastership in Grand Junction, Colo. Mr. Walker is well known throughout Western Kentucky, having been Editor of The Crittenden Press for many years and was Postmaster at Marion under Cleveland's administration. He left Marion for the West some ten or twelve years ago.

WET OR DRY?

Question to Be Voted on At Pembroke April 14.

Those favoring Pembroke remaining in the dry list of towns in Kentucky made no effort to purge the list of names presented to Judge Knight, asking for an election to be held, and an order was made for an election April 14. Pembroke has been dry for three years, and it is claimed that a strong fight will be made to keep it so. The wets will try hard to shift the town to the wet column.

February Morn.

A young woman of Maine announces that she will enter the forest near her home clad only in such raiment as she wore at birth and at the end of two months will come forth fully clad in such apparel as she can procure from the forest. She says she is not afraid to make an experiment.

DEMONSTRATION WORK.

Outlined In Address by Mrs. Walcott.

Mrs. Helen Walcott, representing the Farmers' Demonstration work in Kentucky, appeared before County Superintendent Foster and County Agriculturist Geoffrey Morgan this week and arranged with them for extensive work in this department. Mrs. C. E. Graves, of Hopkinsville, was placed in charge of this work for the county. Mrs. Walcott in a very pleasing manner addressed a most appreciative audience in the County School Superintendent's office, giving a complete outline of the proposed Canning Clubs for girls, the social uplift and the betterment of country conditions.

FAIR MEETING.

Stockholders Will Elect Directors Next Monday.

The meeting of the stockholders of the Pennyroyal Fair company will hold their annual meeting at The Avalon next Monday. The main object of this meeting is the election of a Board of Directors. After the board has been chosen it will elect the officers. Stockholders who cannot be present will send their proxies. The meeting bids fair to be well attended and the place of meeting was changed from the rooms of the H. B. M. A. rooms in order to give all a chance to attend.

TOBACCO POOL BROKEN

Consolidated Growers Association Opened Flood Gates.

At a session, lasting until midnight last Wednesday, at Owensboro, all men who had pooled their tobacco were released from their obligations and were given the privilege of selling their crops in any way they wished to. The executive board that broke the pool was composed of committeemen from Daviess, Ohio, Muhlenburg and McLean counties. There were 12,000,000 pounds in the pool. The board recommended that the growers allow the buyers to deduct 1 per cent. and pay it to the association. The cause of the pool being dissolved was because the buyers and the association could not agree on terms.

SMALLPOX IN LEGISLATURE

Two Members Have the Disease And Many Have Been Exposed.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—Senator J. Forest Porter, of Webster county, and Representative A. J. Oliver, have developed smallpox. Senator Porter is in Frankfort, while Representative Oliver is confined at his home in Scottsville. Members are being vaccinated and alarm is felt in the General Assembly, but talk of adjournment has been discouraged. Everybody is being vaccinated.

Senator Porter, of Dixon, Webster county, is confined by the disease to his bed in an isolated room in the home of former Mayor Polsgrove, on the south side of the city.

Dr. J. N. McCormack went to see Senator Porter and advised against adjournment. He said that Senator Porter had contracted smallpox from one of the waiters who had been employed at the Capital Hotel, but that he did not believe the disease would become widespread. He said he had just left the bedside of Senator Porter, and that although he had a well-developed case of smallpox it was a mild form.

When Dr. McCormack had concluded his talk, Representative Frank Green, of Carroll county, offered a resolution, which was voted down, calling upon every member of the House and newspaper correspondents to submit to vaccination. During his talk Dr. McCormack laid considerable stress upon the fact that Senator Porter had never been vaccinated.

In the room with Senator Porter nursing him are his wife and daughter. Dr. McCormack said to-night that both had been vaccinated and that it was possible they would not contract the disease. The members of former Mayor Polsgrove's family were all vaccinated following the discovery of the true nature of Senator Porter's illness, and Judge Polsgrove has left his home in order that he may attend to his business with safety to those with whom he comes in contact.

Former Mayor Polsgrove and members of his family were at a reception given at the Governor's mansion last night, and for that reason many who were there are experiencing creepy sensations to-night.

There is no real occasion for this alarm, however, according to Dr. McCormack, as one cannot contract smallpox from a person not broken out with the disease.

Representative A. J. Oliver, of Allen county, is also a smallpox victim. He left Frankfort with a high fever several days ago, and it was not until Thursday that his friends here learned the true nature of his ailment.

SNALL BLAZE.

Home of John Rigsby Caught On Fire From Defective Flue.

An alarm was turned in from the home of John Rigsby, a carpenter, on North Clay street, yesterday morning about half past 9 o'clock. The department promptly responded, but the flames were put out without attaching the hose to the hydrant, the chemical machines being used.

The flames were getting a good start when the fire department arrived, but the building was saved, with a loss of about $25.

Unusual Offer To Our Readers.

For a limited time, and subject to withdrawal after 30 days, the well-known publishing house of the J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, founded in 1792, offers to the readers of this paper a 12 months' subscription to "Lippincott's Magazine" and a year's subscription to the Kentuckian, both for $3.00. This is the price of a twelve months' subscription to "Lippincott's" alone. Additional to obtaining every issue of this paper for a year, our readers will receive in "Lippincott's," 12 great complete novels by popular authors, 105 short stories, crisp, entertaining, original; 45 timely articles from the pens of masters, and each month some excellent poems with the right sentiment, and "Walnuts and Wine," the most popular humor section in America. To obtain this extraordinary offer prompt action is necessary. Remit to J. B. Lippincott Company, Washington Square, Phila., Pa. Advertisement.

Considerate!

A Wesleyan Methodist missionary in India (says the "Manchester Guardian") wrote home to the girl he was in love with, asking her to come out and marry him. The girl's aunt had the same name. She got the letter and went out. The missionary met her on the quay, and such was his delicacy of mind that he married her. When she died, years afterwards, he married the niece.

CANDIDATE FOR HERO MEDAL

Long-Suffering Pittsburger, Braved Woman's Rage and Scorn in Putting a Stop to Nuisance.

Maddened by the tickling of his nose, the jabbing of his cheeks and the menace to his eyesight from a paint brush ornament which reached from the hat of a woman occupying the seat in front of him, a desperate man on an Avalon car took the matter of censoring the styles of women's hats into his own hands—or rather into his mouth, for he grabbed with his teeth the brush on the end of the long, bare stick which was supposed to ornament the hat and held it fast till the end of his journey.

The wearer of the hat was powerless to turn around and see the mean man who thus had interfered with the time-honored privilege of woman. She squirmed and twisted, but the relentless man still held her feather in his clenched teeth, while everyone else on the car enjoyed her discomfiture. When at last the man left the car the glance she gave him was one of mingled grief, scorn and mortification.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

MAKES FOR PERFECT DISPLAY

New Idea in Show Windows Seems to Be the Thing Merchants Have Long Been Seeking.

A show window which renders objects on display as clearly visible as though there were no glass at all has recently been installed in one of the big New York department stores, says Popular Mechanics Magazine in an illustrated article. The new "shadow-box" window eliminates all reflection and thus avoids the common and annoying fault in the ordinary display window which reflects sky, buildings, street traffic, etc., more brilliantly than it displays the merchandise the store offers for sale. The new type of window, which is patented is divided into an upper and lower light, the latter extending to a height well above the head of a very tall person, and each glass is curved inward. The curve, which has been determined after careful study of optical laws, diverts the rays of light from the street, downward or upward at an angle at which the diverted light rays strike a black plate which absorbs them.

GERMAN WOMAN WINS HONOR.

Unusual honors have been won by Fraulein Rachel Hirsch, who is the first woman physician in Germany to acquire the coveted title of professor. Fraulein Hirsch, for the past five years, has been the chief assistant of Professor Kraus, and has conducted a polyclinic for both men and women patients of the university medical clinic of the Berlin Charity hospital. Fraulein Prof. Dr. Hirsch, which will henceforth be her full title, has not only been active in hospital service, but has also done superior research work in the fever and bacteriological fields; also in connection with diabetes and kindred diseases.

SHOT PROWLING BEAR.

Mary Smith, a brave girl, of Glen-spey, N. Y., will have a fine bearskin coat made from a bear of her own killing. Bruin had been stealing corn from her father's corn field for some time and she vowed that she would get him. So, armed with a rifle and an electric flash light, she lay in wait for him at night. When he appeared on the scene she flashed the light on him, and taking careful aim she fired and the robber dropped dead. And yet if you read in books of fiction about girls doing such things you would say they couldn't be so.

SARCASTIC.

"I can give you any number of five-room apartments with all the modern improvements."
"How suite of you!"

EQUIVOCAL

"Did it cost you much to have the kitchen range fixed?"
"Well, I may say we were under grate expense."

A TRUE CASE.

"The convict failed to effect his escape because he forgot to hide his file from the keeper."
"What criminal carelessness!"

A FASHION HINT.

"How are caps to be worn this season?"
"I believe at all head-on meeting."

LIFE'S SWEETS STILL AHEAD

Thanksgiving Time Found Chorus Girls Just a Little Bit Disheartened Over the Outlook.

They sat in a cheap Broadway restaurant—two chorus girls out of work. It was Thanksgiving day.

"When I came to New York a year ago," said the blonde, "I told the folks at home that I'd probably return for Thanksgiving in a private car. Back there they think I'm doing fine. I hadn't the heart to tell them the truth."

"That's what they think of me back in Wheeling," said the other girl, quietly. "The paper back home printed my picture last Sunday showing me to be a big actress."

"They're having turkey and cranberries at my house back home tonight," said the first.

"Same at my home," said the other.

The first put her face in her hands and was silent. A moment later the waiter approached them.

"What'll you have?" he asked.

"An egg sandwich and a cup of coffee," came from the blonde.

"Same for me," said the other.

The waiter smiled, turned on his heel and departed in the direction of the kitchen. Two heads went into two sets of hands and a silence fell over the little party. Two girls were thinking, and thinking hard.

THERE ARE OTHERS

Mrs. Wise—Children in these days are very mature.

Mrs. Green—Yes, indeed; why, my little boy often finds fault with the coffee just like his father.

CONCERNING CUBA.

There is no Cuban currency and no paper money; United States currency is taken as the basis. Customs duties are also payable in foreign gold coin converted in accordance with the list of values issued by the secretary of the treasury of the United States. Spanish silver coins circulating in the island are received for customs purposes at the following fixed rates: Peso, 60 cents; medio peso, 30 cents; poseta, 12 cents; real, 6 cents; medio real, 3 cents.

The metric is the legal system. Some Spanish weights and measures are still largely used, especially in the retail trade, among them being the arroba—26.366 pounds, and the vara—33.384 inches. In some instances British units are also employed.

THE YOUNGER SET.

Doctor Gildersleeve, eighty-two years young, says his "work is all planned out for at least fifty years ahead." What a rebuke to mere lads of sixty or seventy, who think only of retiring to slippers ease.—Greensboro (N. C.) News.

CLOSE DISTINCTION.

She (after the waltz)—You're a freshman, aren't you?

He—Pardon me; I didn't mean to hold you so tight.—Ohio Sun-Dial.

NO USE.

"You can't split hairs in that argument."
"Why not?"
"Because it is over bald facts."

EXCEPTIONS.

"Isn't it considered a great insult to hang him in effigy?"
"Not if it is his portrait in an art exhibition."

HIS FAULT.

"Mrs. Nagg complains very much of her peccant spouse."
"If she does, I am sure he is of the hen-peccant kind."

EVIL TIMES.

"Things look pretty dark for me."
"How so?"
"My wife's going in for light housekeeping."

THREE THINGS YOU NEED..

First—"Kentuckian"
A virile, newsy newspaper with the interest of the entire community at heart. Issues of the day are handled without fear or favor. You will find in this paper an up-to-date department for each member of the family. Clean, honest, straightforward—it is a paper your family should not be without.

Second—Technical World Magazine
Is the one magazine that not only entertains in a fascinating manner, but which also instructs. It is the magazine for the busy business man, or for the person who wants to full away a summer's afternoon, and be agreeably informed at the same time. It is profusely illustrated, and tells in a simple and interesting way of the discoveries of scientists, the achievements of inventors, the feats of engineers and explorers, and the opening of every new field of human endeavor. What Jack London says—"I have just chanced upon my first copy of TECHNICAL WORLD MAGAZINE. There isn't anything like it. I want more, and I cannot wait for them to come, so I am sending you herewith check for which please enter my subscription and send me immediately the last two years' back numbers."

Third—A Fine Atlas
This one is just off the presses. This is the year to obtain a new atlas. The 1910 Census has just been completed, this atlas contains the official figures. 128 pages of 8 color maps brought right down to date—every map giving the results of the most recent surveys. All railroads are shown and named and maps of all large cities are included. There are 21 double-page maps showing in detail portions of the U. S. and Canada. Dimensions 10 1/2 x 13 1/2. Bound in stiff linen—Silver Leaf Title—printed on heavy plate paper. Sells regularly for $3.00. A splendid gift.

ALL THREE Only $3.80
Special arrangement with Technical World Magazine and the publishers of this Atlas make this offer possible. But it is very strictly limited. You must act immediately.

SNAKES SEEK WINTER HOME

Cold Weather Sent Them Back to Abode Where They Had Met With Affection and Warmth.

Consider now the snake, hated of mankind, and yet proved by a Colorado professor to be possessed of affection surpassing that of the house
cat or the pet dog. Here is the proposition: A professor at Greeley, making a scientific study of snakes, always had several reptiles, of varying species, about his house. In the summer he turned them out, to live as they would, relates the Denver Republican, but in the winter he gathered them in and housed and fed and warmed them until spring. The rattles he rendered harmless by removing their poison sacs and fangs,
but this dental work aroused not the slightest of ill feeling on the part of any diamondback. On the contrary, the rattlers were always ready to revel in steam heat and all the other comforts of a modern house.

But the professor has been called to another institution. He turned his snakes out, thinking that they would go back to the wilds again
when they found that he was not there to welcome them in the fall.
But evidently he knew not the way
of a serpent on the front doorstep.
Today there are disconcerted snakes
of every kind, including the "de-horned" rattlers, wandering around the house once occupied by the professor. They are waiting to be taken in and warmed at the furnace when the first fires of fall are lighted. But more than all else, they show that they are waiting for the sound of a voice that is lost and a hand that will caress them no more. There is dejection in their attitudes, as they hear only strange footsteps on the walks.

Either the professor should come back to Greeley to live or take his affectionate snakes with him. Then devotion will receive its just reward
—and, besides, the house can be rented.

ONE REASON FOR GLADNESS

Consolation Handed Unchivalrous Escort Who "Kloked" at Cost of His Companion's Luncheon.

They were on the subject of girls.
"Look here!" exclaimed McFarland. "Did you ever take a girl out to lunch when she felt a little faint?"

"Er—no," admitted Smith, reluctantly.

"Well, take my advice and don't.
One day I took Miss Jennie Westcott into a restaurant. At first she declined to eat anything, but then she said she believed she did feel a little faint."

"Did she take anything? She seized the menu, glanced over it, said she didn't feel very hungry, and ordered—"

"Well, what did she order?"

"Oysters, bouillon, lobster, cutlets,
sweetbreads and peas, chicken,
shrimp salad, bisquit glace, maca-
rons, coffee and creme de menthe.
It cost me three dollars."

"Well, you ought to be glad," said
Smith.

"Glad? What for?"

"Why, glad she wasn't hungry."

MINOR INCIDENT.

"The men of this country don't appear to object to giving their wives
the vote," said the visitor from abroad.

"Well," replied the plain citizen,
"after you have put in your life trying to give a woman the kind of a house she wants and good clothes and furniture and anything else her happiness craves, it doesn't seem sensible to try to hold out on a little thing
like the vote."

MEAN HINT.

Gladys—Jack proposed to me last night.

Maude—I suppose you turned him down like the rest of us girls?

THE FACT IN THE CASE.

"People are getting on badly enough in those floods, aren't they?"
"I think they ought to be able to get on swimmingly."

GETTING IT STRAIGHT.

She—I believe you married me
simply because I had money.

He—Quite the opposite, madam.
I married you because I hadn't any.

SHE COULDN'T SEE IT.

Jack—Did you tell her that she was necessary to your happiness?
Tom—No; I tried to persuade her
that I was necessary to her.

FORCE GROWTH OF PEARLS

Japanese Have Ingenious Process to Accelerate the Production of Coveted Gems.

The growing scarcity of perfect pearls has induced the Japanese at many of their pearl fisheries to adopt a somewhat novel plan, which, if it succeeds, should tend to increase enormously the world's pearl output.

Pearls are formed by little grains of sand and other substances which get into the oyster's shell and are a source of irritation to the little animal inside. He cannot turn out the intruding substance, so proceeds to cover it up with layers of lining material, until at length the object is incased and a round or pear-shaped pearl is formed.

The Japanese are trying the forefable introduction of foreign substances into the oyster shells. They place live oysters before a fire, the heat of which induces them to slightly open their jaws; then a very tiny piece of wood is inserted with a little carbonate of lime. They are then placed once more in the oyster beds,
and it is calculated that in about twelve months the oyster will make a pearl out of the substance introduced.

The result of the experiment is awaited with keen interest, as, owing to their comparative scarcity, pearls are now among the most valuable of precious stones, very large sums being paid for especially fine pear-shaped pearls.

WAIL OF THE MEAL TICKET

Critique—Your wife has very good taste for dress.

Caustique—Good taste for dress?
Great Scott, man, she's got more than a taste. She's got a ravenous appetite for it.

CHIVALRY'S REWARD.

There is a sham content whose practitioners often get their "cuncupancies" as effectively as did Thomas Raikes. The duchess of York led him about her garden,
where was a menagerie crowded with eagles and some favorite macaws.
A herd of kangaroos and ostriches
appeared and a troop of monkeys.
Next morning a kangaroo and a ma-
caw strolled into Raikes' bedroom.
He was too much of a courtier to tell his terror. At breakfast he said,
"If I like one creature more than another it is a kangaroo, while there is nothing so good for a bedroom sentinel as a strong-legged ma-caw." The good duchess smiled pleasantly and put Raikes down in her will for two macaws.—Lucy E.
Keeler, in the Atlantic.

DANGER ZONE.

"What battered you up?" asked
the germ.

"I was on a dollar bill," explained
the microbe; "and a miser grabbed it.
But you look worse than I do."

"Yes; I was on a girl's lip the night her beau called."

BOTH POSITIONS.

He—I see that Binks on that question is on the qui vive.

She—I thought you said the other day that he was on the fence.

MISUNDERSTANDING.

Impatient Horseman—Here,
ostler, I want feed for my horse.

Deaf Ostler—Hey?

I. H.—No, stupid; oats.

IN THE LODGING HOUSE.

First Bedfellow—There is a noise
in this room.

Second Ditto—It must be the bed
tickling.

HIS ONLY HOPE.

"I want a satisfactory hearing,"
yelled the deaf plaintiff in court.

"Then go to a specialist," shouted
the irate magistrate.

QUITE EQUAL.

"That surgeon was very much cut up about the result of his operation."

"Not as much cut up as his patient
was."

2 PAPERS AT ATHENAEUM

Current Topic and Biographic
Sketch Make Enjoyable Program.

The Athenaeum held an interesting meeting Thursday night at Hotel Latham, with 17 present. Dr. R. F. McDaniel wrote most entertaining on "The Photo Play," discussing the newest of the great art industries from writing the play to its production in the theatre.

Mr. Ira L. Smith read a biographical paper on "Davy Crockett," which was intensely interesting. It sparkled with humor and dealt with the spectacular career of the noted frontiersman from his birth in East Tennessee in 1786 to his heroic death as one of the six survivors of the fall of the Alamo in 1836, murdered by the Mexicans.

Both papers were discussed at length.

DEATH CHAIR FOR SCHMIDT

Convicted of First Degree Murder for Killing Anna Aumuller.

New York, Feb. 6.—Hans Schmidt was found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Anna Aumuller, young woman he had married through self-performed ceremony while acting as a priest at St. Joseph's church. The penalty is death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison. Schmidt will be sentenced Wednesday.

Schmidt, whose defence was insanity, laughed bitterly when the verdict was pronounced. He steadfastly had declared himself guilty and that he be punished by death.

Smith-Truesdell.

Mr. J. P. Smith, son of Prof. H. Clay Smith, was married yesterday to Miss Rose Truesdell, of Chicago, at the bride's home in that city. Mr. Smith, who is a Hopkinsville boy, is stationed at Gibson, Ind., as a civil engineer of the I. H. Belt R. R., in whose employ he has been for five years. The young couple are now on a ten days' bridal tour in the South.

Swallows Fortune In Gems.

Mistaking three black pearls, worth $60,000, for pills, Mr. Cheibler of Warsaw, Russia, swallowed them. The gems had been bought by his wife as a birthday present and had been placed by her on a table alongside the bed with the desire of surprising her husband. He had a headache and thought he had taken pills until his wife missed the pearls.

FARMERS FEASTED

And Shown Cattle Feeding
Plants in Warren County
Thursday.

A number of the Christian County farmers spent Thursday in Bowling Green and Warren county, looking over the different cattle feeding plants of that county.

Those who made the trip were S. L. Cowherd, Geoffrey Morgan, R. C. Gary, W. C. Binns, Frank Stowe, W. S. Pierce, Jeff J. Garrett, Holland Garnett, Couts Askew and Otis Rhea.

The delegation was met at the train by T. J. Potter and Morgan Hughes, who placed the party in automobiles and took them on a tour of sight seeing.

The party visited the farms of Morgan Hughes, Searcey and James Cheney. At the last named place an elegant dinner was served to the Christian county delegation. After returning to Bowling Green, the party was shown through the Western State Normal School.

The party are enthusiastic over the hospitality shown them by the good people of Bowling Green and Warren county.

WAY BEYOND

The Half Million Mark on Loose
Floor This Week.

The local tobacco market, especially on the loose floor, this week has been, probably, more active than last week and prices have been stiff. The offerings have not improved in quality materially, and at this time it begins to look as if the percentage of fine tobacco will not be near so great as was expected at the opening of the season. The few days of cold and unfavorable weather greatly retarded deliveries on the loose floors while the warm, damp weather that followed rendered much tobacco too high in order. A loose floor man remarked last Thursday that the coming week would be a busy one, as the planters are anxious to get their crops off hand before active farm operations begin. Consequently those who have sold their crops to the big buyers as well as those who will sell on the loose floors will all get busy.

The sales this week on the loose floors went far beyond the half million mark, as will be seen by Inspector Abernathy's report, which follows:

Unsold stock Jan. 23, 1914, 969 Hhds.
Receipts for week..... 43 Hhds.
Receipts for year..... 155 Hhds.
Sales for week..... 13 Hhds.
Sales for year..... 84 Hhds.

LOOSE FLOORS

Sales for week..... 581 810 Lbs.
Sales for season..... 4481 440 Lbs.

AMUSEMENTS.

Another large audience greeted the Billy Bryant Stock Company at Holland's Opera House last night and everybody was well pleased, the entire performance being most satisfactory. At the matinee which will be given at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon "A Yankee in Ireland" will be the bill and the price will be 10 cents to all. The company will close the week's engagement tonight, presenting The "Game of Life" a western play. This is one of the Company's most popular bills and a packed house is the prediction. The company is a most excellent one and their specialties are a most pleasing feature.—Advertisement.

Sold Farm.

Thursday W. L. Goresold his farm, on the Nashville Pike, just beyond the river, to C. H. Bryant, of Trigg county, near Gracey. The farm contains less than 100 acres. The consideration is private.
